The effect, especially in the localities where good runfalls occurred, was most fiverable on the corn crop which is matur-ing very first. In some localities corn is past remedy, however. Henry county says the yield cannot in any contragency exceed three fourths of an average crop In another week the crop will be out of danger from the frost. In Southern Ill nois fall seeding will begin during the week and the ground is generally in good condition. A few localities report pasturige failing and two counties in particular say that the supply of water for stock is giving out. None of the reports show any injury to the potato crop, and fruits everwhere seem to support the former high estimates both as to quality and quantity Stock is healthy and in good condition with the exception of slight

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

The Old Colonel to the Veterans of the 116th Regiment.

Dr Ira N Barnes, the regimental surgeon, and president of the 116th Illinois ceipt of a letter from John E. Maddux, the last colonel of the regiment, who present residence is at Wichits, Kans, He wrote the letter to be read at the reunion held at Oakland Park, but it came to hand too late

In his letter the Colonel says that he was prevented by infirmity and age to be present at the meeting, but although absent in the body he was present in spirit

* * He was proud to say that the 116th dared to follow where any man dared to lead. The Colonel goes on at some length to allude to the organization some length to allude to the organization of the 116th and the injustice he says was done to him and the personal indignities offered to him * * Speaking of the old colonel he says "Col N. W. Tupper was as good an officer and as tender hearted man as ever drew sword, and if he had lived would have been the rival of U S Grant and the president of the United States" He speaks of the wound he received at Vicksburg, of his return home, of his recovery, of his return to the front and of his appointment as provost morshal on Morgan L Smith's staff at Big Shanty He remained in that capacity until the assault on Atlanta, July 22, '64 when he was placed in command of the front line of the works with three or the front line of the works with three regiments under him as a part of the first brigade. He took command about 20 minutes after the death of Gen McPherson. The Rebels attacked in three lines. of battle, but they repulsed until they at-tached from the rear, and shot from under him, and he had the choice of surrender or death, the Colonel and 84 men were prisoners. After two months imprison-ment at Macon, Ga, the Colonel escaped, only to be recaptured by three men and three blood hounds he was then placed in the work house at Charleston and subsequently exchanged with 240 others at Atlanta. He then took command of the 116th as lieutenant colonel, and was in all subsequent battles and skirmishes. He commanded a brigade in the Goldsboro battle, the last fight in which the 116th engaged. It was at Savannah, Ga, the writer says, that Major John S. Windsor preferred charges against him for incompetency, because his eyes were bad, as the result of wounds received at Atlan's. He was tried by a drum head court martial, of which Col Perry, of the 47th Ohio, was president. He swas recommended to be discharged but the order was next enforced. The colonia dds. ommended to be discharged but the order was never enforced. The colonel adds that he knew nothing of the order until the regiment arrived at Washington, when he was told of it by Gen John A Logan, who added that the colonel would be reinstated before the sun went down I he colonel was reinstated without loss of new the retirement to the Persulant beautiful. of pay, the petition to the President being signed by Theo Jones, 2d Brigade, W. B Hazen, 2d Division, John A Logan, 15th Army Corps, O. O. Howard, Department Commander, and U. S. Grant, General Commander, and General Commander,

The colonel adds that he has written a book which fully sets forth the mentorious deeds of the 116th, a copy of which udiles et (ein laice to be held at Sions he will send free to every surviving widow of a soldier of the regiment.

TROUBLES IN THE WAY OF APPLY-ING RULES IN PALMISTRY

Hard to Get the Subject to Say "I Am Like That"-What Is Indicated by the "Line of Saturn"-Short Little Fingers, I have been twenty years at the study of palmistry or chirognomy, and during that time have not been able to discover any philosophic reason for believing that the lines of the hand and its shape judi cate character The want of a connecting theory frequently causes me to lose all hope and belief in the investigation, but practice restores confidence No one can look at even a few hands every month for years together without being driven to the conclusion that they really do contain a guide to much that is to be found in the nature of their owners As an actual fact, however, I find that the leading lines of the hand are never eccentrically deformed, broken or deficient in persons who have not some gans or places in their characters

THE LINE OF SATURN If the lines are long, clear, red, gently

curved, except the upright ones, few un number, and shown in a hand that has fingers with substantial tips and not too ong roots, the best sort of nature may be looked for. In the case of persons of brilliant original talent and thought, the upright line from the base of the palm toward the fingers is never absent and is sometimes repeated twice or even thrice It is called the "line of Saturn," and springs from many different places In musicians, actors and some others it usually starts from below the little When it is joined at the base to the curved line round the thumb an in-dependence of feeling out of proportion to the will strength or the pride of the rest of the character is to be expected. If the line called that of the head, which crosses the hand from above the thumb, usually turning down to the pad below the little finger, be entirely separate from the line that surrounds the thumb, the whole character will be modified, whether it be a good or bad one, by this separation As a rule that modification will tend to make the person seem more clever when thinking out of his own head, but less able, however sympathetic and docile, to adopt the modes of getting at ideas by which his teachers achieve their success

A short little finger often goes with sweetness, a readiness to repent of evil and of anger, and sometimes even a cheerful abnegation. Both kinds are tonsistent with a permanence of negative wishes, or, as it is usually called, obstinacy, as this is a quality capable of drawing strength from many sources A large ended thumb is very good in a good man, and helps him to fight the battle of life In a dull and selfish man it enables him to be extra oppressive at home, and to make his opinions of much more effect than their value warrants A thumb whose end is large and its shaft poor, as though it were a door handle with a weak neck and could be twisted off the hand, is not an advantage This leads to many evils, and, though often found in a good man, gives a tendency to change the reasons for his good deeds or good opinions, even after he has been emphatic in choosing or defending them Such change will usual y be rather of the nature of a reversal than a drifting

Blunt ended thumbs seldom go with a natural tendency to politeness of address or a pohshed approach, except when, as in persons much before the world, this has been learned as a part But in good types it goes with a gentleness and kind ness of manner bred by self-knowledge which has taught the owner to counter act his faults before they have time to hurt mnocent people It follows as a matter of course that among women those whose fingers and thumbs are pointed are generally the more superficially charming Those with large, blunt ended fingers are (if intellectual and educated) more valued and more impressive, and even commanding. But command, like melancholy has more than one origin, viewed as an expression of constitutional tendency.

BLUNT FINGERS AND THUMBS

Pointed fingered people have no excuse If they are not agreeable, for it costs them little to seem so If large ended blunt fingered people show delicate discernment, self abnegation in mental matters, indulgence to shallow weak ness, patience with anger and folly, they are either entirely uninterested personally in the occasions that bring such qualities before them, or have bought their good nature at a price, like the Centurion his freedom

When a student of the hand has read and applied for himself all the volumes that have been written on the subject and when he has also discovered how to discount the bias of his different authors by guessing at their hands and account ing for their predilections, and when he has achieved such proficiency in looking at a hand and adding up all the conflict-ing forces suggested by its balance of lines and segments that he can at once tell how to classify the owner and what to expect of him, yet the greatest of all difficulties will remain to be surmounted This hard hill to climb is nothing less than to describe a character in such terms that the owner of the same must confess his portrait and say, "Yes it is true, I am like that "-Edwin Ellis in Universal Review.

The "Addressec." The postoffice department has recently comed a word which will probably find its way into the dictionaries. It is "addressee" and signifies the person to whom a letter is addressed. We presume it will be equally applicable to the charm-ing young lady who is receiving the addresses of a lover It would work some thing in this way in such a case: nee is paying his addresses to M199 Smith '

"Indeed, 13 the addressee rich and handsome."—Boston Courier Suckien's Arnics baive.

Most men, especially in the newspaper profession, have a high enough apprecia-tion of their value and ability. There is a Scotchman, however, who is conscious that he does not possess in a marked de-gree all the essentials for perfect journalism His name is John Saunders and he publishes a paper down in the country for the especial edification of a colony of his own countrymen. He came to the city not long ago and at once went Fruit as Medicine. Grapes come first, especially black grapes, which are most nutritious, and at the same time purifying to the blood, Grape cures are quite the fashion in some parts of the continent, and are said to work mirreles at times. Peaches also are most hygienic to the human sys-tem, as well as being one of the most exquisito fruits in nature Nothing indeed is more palatable, wholesome and medicinal than a good ripe peach Peaches however, should not be eaten overripe They may be eaten at meals or between meals, they are particularly hygienic when eaten at breakfast An orange eaten before breakfast will, it is said, cure dyspopsia sooner than anything else Apples are also very hygienic, especially when baked or stewed. They are excellent in many cases of illness and are fu better than salts, oils and pills The juice of oranges, as of lemons, s most valuable to make drinks in case of fever Tourntoes are also excellent emedies in some liver and gastric com plaints and are certainly more pleasant than medicines Figs, raspbeiries, strawpermes currants and cherries are all

Special "Case" Examinations of Rail-way Mail Clerks.

Washington, Sept. 17.—General Super-intendent Bell of the Railway Mait Servintendent self of the Railway mail services has received the results of special "case" examinations of railway mail clerks connected with the Fifth division, with headquarters at Cincinnat, O., for the month of August. The result is announced in general orders, and shows that 114 clerks made an average higher than ninety-nine per cent, while ten of the one hundred and fourteen did not make an error. One clerk correctly distributed 2.098 cards indiscriminately addressed to offices in the State of Illing's in two hours and ten minutes. Another correctly distributed 1,809 cards in fifty-five minutes. Of the whole number of clerks examined twenty-eight were re-cently appointed and are serving proba-tionary terms. These test examinations are held from time to time, and are con-fined to those who ask for an examination with a view to a higher general ratng, and those who are below the average in efficiency. The examination of these is compulsory. The result of this examination in the Fifth division is eminently Methodist Episcopal church closed its satisfactory to the railway mail officials, he standard being higher than ever before. Washington, Sept. 17.—The Secretary of the Navy has received a telegram from Philadelphia confirming the published reports that the trial of the cruise Baitimore was a success. The telegram is as follows:

It is believed that the Baltimore developed 10,000 horse power, an excess of 1,000 horse power over the contract reguirements. This will give Cramp & Sons, the contractors, a premium of $100, -000. The Philadelphia, a sister ship of the Baltimore, and built by the same firm, will receive $50,000 for every quarter knot of speed developed over nineteen knots.

When Major Warner came here in response to a summons from Secretary Noble he said he could hardly accept the place but that he would take the matter under serious advisement. His law partner, Mr. Deane, was summoned here, and he remained in conference with Major Warner for two days. Major Warner, it is under stood, came to the conclusion Sunday that he could not afford to accept the ember the Illinois Female College, of Jacksonville, of which Rev. W. F. Short, position. A Patriarch Indeed.

Decatur to-day had a visit from one of the oldest residents of the county, Mr. muel Phares, of Maros, who is 82 mold, and who came to Illinois in 1838, from Columbus, O., making the trip on horseback. He then saw Decatur for the first time—51 years ago—and although he has lived in Macon and Dewitt counties 42 years, he never visited Decatur again—except to pass through on the railroad—until the day that Blaine was here in 1834, and never again until on the railroad—until the day that Biame was here in 1884, and never again until to-day. He has had 13 children, 12 of whom are etill living. Ten of his sons served in the army, and he himself served three months at the beginning of the war. One of his sons, William Phares, is the present supervisor of Maroa township. night, when their first electric car came buzzing down North Main street to the with a shouting mass of humanity, causing the crowds to collect at the street intersections as if a costly conflagration was in progress. Interesting Statistical Charts Showing Leading Facts of American Agriculture.

A Royal Picture Gallery-A Missouri Congressman Across the Bridge-Captain Armes' Mentality.

Delegates to the International American Congress-Major Warner and the Pension Commissionership.

Leading Facte of American Agriculture

Washington Sept.18 —Mr J. R Dodge, statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture, has prepared a series of sixteen charts, preceded by a brief letter-press description, and bound as an "Album of Agricultural Statis-

The basis of each is a small map of the United States Most of these charts illustrate the result of the statistical work of the Department, though the first and second show, respectively, the proportions, by States, of the elements of the total land surface of the more restricted farm area, and the sixteenth chart illus-trates similarly the tenure of farms by proprietors, tenants paying money rent and tenants giving a share of produce in lieu of rent. In these the State differences are by proportions rather than by areas and numbers. All the other charts carry the idea of local distribution are of the relative area. local distribution, as of the relative area of certain principal cereals in the several, States and Territories, and differences in rate in yield of corn products, and in average prices of farm animals. These differences are first indicated by planing States in five groups, each having a cer-tain range of differentiation and giving to each group a grade of density in color and a distinct peculiarity of mechanical drawing. But for closer comparison, a scale is male with the National average as zero, and the per centage of each State above or below this average is indicated on the map in pista figures, with the plus or minus prefix, showing the relation of each State to the general ever-1 age as well as to every other State aversage On the margin is also placed the tabulation upon which the graphic delinecation is based

In the first group in corn growing, comprising States having m re than one hundred acres in maize in every one thousand of the superficial area, are ten-States, viz Iowa, with 219 acres; Illi-nois, 217, Delaware, 176, Indiana, 157; Missourt, 149 Tennessee, 146, Kentucky. 123; Maryland 117, Kansas, 113; Ohio,

In the rate of yield of wheat the first group, with a ten years average of 16 6 bushels or more wer acre, includes only business of more ser acre, includes only the divisions of the Rocky Mountains and Pacific Coast region and a part of the New England States In the second group are Michigan, New York, Ohio In-diana, New Hampshire, Illinois, Maine mans, new nampshire, illinois, Maine and Arizono in order. The States producing the mest are not those with the largest proportion of surface in wheat, or the largest yield per acre. Dakota or the largest yield per acre. Dakota las but forty-one acres in every one thousand, and a yield of 136 bushels per

Analogous facts are shown in regard to oats The charts deal only with the three coreals maize wheat and oats, these comprising as they do, ninety-seven per cent of the total ceroal production of the country In producing the extraordinary differences in average value of farm animals, the largest factor is breed or blood, while feed and care and distance from market are other elements of variation. This publication which is a part of the work in graphic Illustration for popular-izing agricultural statistics, is presented in the hope of aiding a clear apprecia-tion of some of the leading facts of Amera ican agriculture

In coming East there is one thing noticeable which surprises me Notwith-standing the fact that the St. Louis pa-pers have given the most extensive ad-vertising possible to the fact that we are after the exposition none of the Eastern cities or people have the slightest knowledge of it To them the fight seems to lie between New York and Chicago Yet we have raised a fund of $5 000,000; have organized a local committee of two hundred leading citizens, and Governor Francis has appointed a State committee of one hundred more. We are after the exposition red hot, and it is time for the East to wake up to the fact. Complete and extensive maps plans and diagrams have been published, showing our advangageous location in respect of population and the place where we propose to put the buildings. Captain Armes recently figured in a court-martial at the War Department for having pulled the nose of General Bea-ver. Not long afterwards papers were filed in the Secretary's effice to the effect that Captain Armes was not responsible for his actions. The letter was, of course, signed, but was of sufficient influ-ence to have the writer's name kept a secret, and it will not be made public during the examination.

The two physicians have been instructed to go thoroughly into the matter, and the private and public life of Captain Armes will be submitted to a most rigid investigation. Prominent army officers are of the opinion that the board will not make any finding, and the matter will eventually go the courts.

England

CELEBRATING THEIR VICTORY LONDON, Sept. 16 -The workmen ondon held a monster demonstration at Hyde Park yesterday afternoon to cele-brated the victory of the dock laborers in finally securing every concession for which they contended during their strug-gle of the past month—John Burns was, of course, the chief speaker, and when he arose to address the audience from one of the numerous stands which had been of the numerous stands which had been erected in different parts of the park, he was greated with deafcu-ing cheers, and so great was the enthusiasm of those present that for fully five minutes Mr Burns was com peled to stand, hat in hand, bowing to the right and to the left of him in ac-knowledgment of the unceasing ovation, but unable to utter a syllable for the designing shouts that tent the an

When, from sheer exhaustion the men desisted and a measure of quiet was re-stored. Burns delivered what was ovidently a carefully-prepared speech, showing more than ordinary thought and study He declared that the strike now so happily concluded, was only a preliminary skirmish with which was opened the great battle yet to come A federation of labor would forthw th be organized throughout England, and when this was once completed the war would be carried into Africa The thanks of the whole civilized world, he said, were due to the generous contributors to the strikers' relief fund, and the victory of the men was in no small measure dus to their timely aid Every penny of the fund, he said, would be accounted for by the East End unions, under whose direction it had been distributed

Burns and his wife, while walking in the Strand yesterday, were recognized, and to escape the attentions which were at once showered upon them by the crowds which lined the street, they were compeled to seek refuge on top of a well-filled omnibus In this way they escaped of admirers, but many followed the bu for several squares sending up cheers for Burne and his plucky little wife,
